TechTree partners with MMC Ventures to shine a spotlight on developers

TechTree is a mentoring and community building platform for developers designed to break bias in tech. The company has collaborated with Silicon Roundabout to create conversation series Show The Code, which provides developers with a platform to discuss the projects they are working on.

Temps de lecture : minute

25 May 2021

The latest edition of Show The Code was created in collaboration with in partnership with MMC Ventures and Silicon Roundabout.

Introducing the event, TechTree's founder and CEO Pawel Tomczuk said: "The idea behind this is simple, we are all talking about the tech sector and about tech companies, but we almost never give the spotlight to the people who build this tech. The role of Show the Code is to give the centre stage to developers who are building these cool products that we are all using and to share what they are working on."

The edition featured talks with developers from Signal AI, Bloom & Wild and Snowplow.

The next Show The Code event is on Thursday 10th June in partnership with Connect Ventures. Sign up now for your chance to speak directly with the developers solving their biggest engineering challenges!

Silicon Roundabout   TechTree

Presents

Show The Code | Connect Ventures Edition

Engineers presenting tech they've built to other engineers

Thursday 10th June 2021 | 12pm

In partnership with connect

Register for the next Show The Code on June 10

Article écrit par Maddyness UK